Green Light For Grad Plan

Committee Proposal Might Hike Tuition

BY SUE FLANAGAN
News Correspondent

AUSTIN--Tuition will be doubled at West Texas State University and other state-supported senior colleges if a report by the governor's committee on education beyond high school is adopted by the legislature.

Governor John Connally said implementation of the plan undoubtedly means higher taxes but said it also points the way to raising the excellence of higher education in this state.

Plans to overhaul Texas higher education system were revealed Tuesday by the Governor's committee.

Creation of a strong new coordinating board with broad powers over the state's total public college and university system is the committee's first recommendation.

No immediate pattern was advanced for individual institutions, such as West Texas State University, but if the legislature adopts the committee's proposals as relayed through the Governor, many changes may be in the offing.

Creation of a coordinating board would abolish the present Texas commission on higher education which now attempts to guide the state's senior colleges and universities.

The committee estimated $420 million would be needed for the next biennium, 1965-67, and $591 million for 1967-69, and recommended tuition be doubled in senior colleges.

At a press conference after the committee session, Gov. Connally said implementation of the excellence in higher education plan meant "we are looking at new taxes beyond any question." He said he and committee members would speak over the state to explain the vast and complicated study plan. The press was invited to Tuesday's briefing and given an 11-page digest.

The final report, due from printers August 31, will be 70 pages. Its recommendations for financing the committee asked that educational funds be given priority or procured through a dedicated tax so that income would be dependable.

The committee stressed that no student in Texas should be denied an education because of cost, and suggested various forms of scholarship and loan funds. Eighteen of the 25 committee members were present and each spoke on some phase of the projection.

Chairman H. B. Zachry of San Antonio and others declared that no suggestions or recommendations on any individual institutions would come from the committee. "This will be a function of the coordinating board when a study in depth can be made," he said.

Gov. Connally, opening the committee's session, said it was good that some points would be controversial. "Nothing of magnitude was ever accomplished without some disagreement," he said.

Local Man Victim Of Auto Crash

Funeral services for Harvey Young, 34, of Canyon, were conducted Tuesday in the First Baptist Church in Littlefield. Burial followed in the Littlefield Cemetery.

Mr. Young was killed Saturday night in a car-truck collision southwest of Bovina.

He was dead on arrival at Clovis Memorial Hospital following the accident, which occurred at 7:30 p.m. Saturday seven miles southwest of Bovina.

His wife, son and daughter, passengers in the car, were taken to the Clovis hospital. They are listed in fair condition.

The driver of the pickup, J. T. Ford of Farwell, was treated and released at a Friona hospital.

Highway patrolman Bill Clifton said the truck was traveling west and the car was traveling south.

The vehicles turned and slid together into a utility pole and a gas meter.

Survivors include his wife, Evelyn Pauline; sons, Harvey and Norbert; a daughter, Debra Ann; five brothers, R. Young and J. N. Young of Dimmitt, N. C. Young of Friona, W. P. Young of Littlefield and E. F. Young of Lubbock; five sisters, Mrs. Della Wagner of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, Mrs. J. L. Stowers of Stratford, Mrs. Clark Carter of Dumas, Mrs. Raymond Melton of Lazbuddie and Mrs. L. R. Capps of Friona.

Girl Gets Top Flute Position

Linda Lowes of Canyon has been named to a top position in Honors Band at the West Texas State University Music Camp. Miss Lowes, who will be a Canyon High School senior this fall, was selected first chair flutist in the band during auditions Sunday in the Fine Arts Building.

Honors Band, directed by Dr.

Ronald Gregory of the University of Indiana, is composed of the most advanced students attending the music camp.

Other Canyon students named to the Honors Band include Don Clark, second chair, tuba; John Haynes, fourth chair, baritone; Sherry Hemphill, fifth chair, flute; and Richard Calder, tenth chair, clarinet.

Music camp activities opened with auditions Sunday afternoon, July 12 and will end July 24. Approximately 640 students are enrolled in the camp, according to John Hatchel, University music department spokesman.

Class instruction at the camp begins with twirling and drum majoring at 7:30 a.m. daily, an optional class. All students are required to attend sectional band classes scheduled from 8:30 a.m. until noon.

Students are required to attend at least two afternoon classes. Afternoon sessions are held at 1 p.m., choir and band classes; 2 p.m., theory and band; 3 p.m., theory, band, and twirling lab II; and two advanced band classes at 4 p.m.

In addition to daily class sessions, recreational activities have been planned for camp students each evening.

This week students attended a dormitory meeting Sunday, July 12.

A "Howdy Party" was held Monday at 7:30 p.m. on the Guenther Hall parking lot, with a juke box provided for music and refreshments served.

Tuesday activities included a choice of attending a movie at (See GIRL, Page 13)

Three well-known newsmen are shown here on a visit to The Canyon News news room. Rickshaw Ski Tourney At Buffalo Saturday

Twelfth annual Rickshaw Water Skiing Tournament is Saturday and Sunday at Buffalo Lake.

Five Canyon folks will be entered in competition, which begins Saturday at 8 a.m.

Registration is set for 7 a.m. Saturday at the lake. The junior boys slalom will be the first event.

The sanctioned tournament, which is sponsored by the Panhandle Boat and Ski Club of Amarillo and Canyon, will feature more than 100 entrants from states in the South Central region of the country.

Ski club authorities said this week persons from Oklahoma, Arkansas, New Mexico, Louisiana and Texas will be entered at the two-day event.

Scheduled to enter from Canyon are Gary McAtee in boys jumping and slalom; Craig Bellah, boys jumping and slalom; Charlotte Clark, girls jumping, tricks and slalom; Judy Clark, girls jumping and slalom; and Kenneth Clark, senior men's jumping and slalom.

Competition Saturday morning will end with boys' jumping. Saturday afternoon events will lead off with the junior girls' jumping. The final event Saturday will be the senior men's tricks.

Men's slalom event will begin Sunday's activities at 7:30 a.m. Girls' tricks will end the morning session and men's jumping will follow after lunch.

Senior women's tricks will conclude the entire contest.

From 4 to 7 p.m. Friday entrants may use the lake for practice runs, according to tournament officials.

All skiers entered in the tournament must have a second class rating or above.

Those entered in the junior division must have at least a third class rating, and entrants must be members of the American Water Skiing Association.

Trophies, donated by Shamrock Oil and Gas Company, will be presented Sunday afternoon after the final event.

Individual trophies will be given to winners in each division. An overall trophy will be presented to the top entrant in the division. A team trophy will be given to the high point team.

Billy J. Hunter of Amarillo is chief judge and director of the tournament. Kenneth Clark of Canyon will be assistant chief judge.

Judging tricks events will be Pockets Heard of Lubbock. Jumping judge will be David Enloe of Pampa, and Mrs. Santa Clark of Canyon will be slalom judge.

4-H Style Show Is Friday Night

"Fashion Bonanza" will be presented Friday evening, July 17, by 4-H seamstresses of Randall County.

"We have 43 girls participating in the revue this year," Mrs. David Pulley, home demonstration agent, says.

The annual 4-H dress revue will be held at the First Presbyterian Church of Canyon with junior and senior division winners representing the county in the District I dress revue on Thursday, July 23, at the Federated Women's Club Building in Amarillo.

The county dress revue will begin at 7:30 p.m. with the public invited to attend.

Miss Ann Fisher will be mistress of ceremonies with Virginia Friemel as program narrator. Awards will be given by Mrs. Earl Reynolds. Music for the revue will be presented by Miss Linda Kay Metcalf.

The senior division winner will compete in the district revue and the county winner in the junior division will model on the district title a girl must be 14 and have completed a minimum of three years in the 4-H program.

Four district winners will be selected to participate in the Texas 4-H Revue production during the first week of the state fair in Dallas.

Early 4-H revue activities began last week with the judging of clothing construction records by Kay Botard, Dallas County home demonstration agent, and 4-H leaders.

The 'judges revue' was staged Wednesday morning at the Farm Bureau Building under the supervision of Mrs. Gene Beene, assistant home demonstration agent for Deaf Smith County, and 4-H leaders.

Mrs. James McCasland and Mrs. B. L. Hufnagle assisted with judging of a second unit. Garments were judged on the girl for appearance and during the afternoon judges inspected seam construction, button holes and other points of construction.

Points compiled through grades on clothing construction records were given to the girls.

Malaney was selected as Brigade Commander for the Saturday parade held for 72 institutional representatives reviewing camp activities. Approximately 1,800 cadets are attending the camp.

Dr. T. Paige Carruth, dean of student life, and Dr. William A. Cooper, professor of biology at WT, were among representatives at Fort Sill beginning Thursday July 11.

"Dempsey received the highest honor that can be given at Fort Sill training exercises," Carruth said.

Long Skirts Fashion For Anniversary

A new fashion trend for ladies has been called for at the 75th Randall County Anniversary. All females are urged to wear styles of yesteryear.

"We're hoping that the ladies will deck out with long dresses, high button shoes, and whatever they have typical of the early 1900's during the celebration week," says a celebration committee spokesman.

An authentic 1900 atmosphere can be set by the women of the town if they follow the planned celebration, according to Joe Gidden, celebration committee chairman.

WT On-Campus Enrollment Up For This Fall

Students living on the West Texas State University campus are expected to hit a record high this fall.

An increase in the number of on-campus students at the university is expected to be between 1,600 and 1,700, according to Dr. T. Paige Carruth, dean of student life.

Last fall 1,538 students were living in university housing at the beginning of the term.

"As of July 1, we have reservations for 576 girls and 528 men, a total of 1,104 students," Carruth said.

A total of 255 freshmen girls have sent in reservations as of July 1, Carruth said, and 312 upperclass girls were registered for dorm space.

A total of 346 freshmen boys have made reservations. Upperclassmen boys entered for the fall term in dorms total 272.

"This is not a complete total, since we do not check the figures but every two weeks. The number is rising each day."

"We do expect more reservations than we had last year," Carruth continued.

Program Said Vital To Research Center

A program vital to development of Killgore Research Center has been approved by the Texas Commission on Higher Education.

The commission has approved the offering of biology at West Texas State University as a major field leading to a master of arts degree, according to President James P. Cornette.

Also approved by the commission was a new school administrator's program involving a sixth year of study.

WTSU now offers masters programs in chemistry, physics and mathematics in the sciences field.

Approval of the masters degree program in biology was vital to development of Killgore Research Center here. Dr. Cornette in February told members of the board of regents that the graduate degree program was absolutely necessary for the opening of the research center.

The center is scheduled to open by Sept. 1, 1965, he said. The Killgore Foundation has put up $500,000 for building the center and some $250,000 in matching funds is being sought from the National Science Foundation.

Approval of the masters degree program in biology clears the way for making application for these matching funds. Bulk of the space in the center will be dedicated to biology.

Courses in the new administrator's program, all on the graduate level, will probably be offered at WTSU for the first time in June, 1965, according to Dr. J. B. Roberts, chairman of the School of Teacher Education.

The program will follow standards set for certification

Canyon is a desert.

Canyon with a recording of 6.44 inches of moisture in 10 months, is described as a desert by Dr. M. B. Measamer.

Measamer of West Texas State University, said this week, "We consider any part of the world with 10 inches of moisture or under as desert. Up to now we have been desert for the past 10 1/2 months."

"We are usually considered steppe country (semi-arid) but for almost a year we have been a desert," Measamer laughingly explained.

Since September 1, 1963 officials have recorded only 6.44 inches of moisture. The average is generally 16 inches, according to Measamer.

Since the first of January, moisture in Canyon has been only 3.97 inches. The normal expectancy is about 14 inches.

Measamer said this is the lowest recorded moisture since the three-day 75th anniversary celebration is expected to draw some 10,000 persons to Canyon for the events. Celebration invitations were extended last week by entourage of Canyon folks who visited with residents of nine southern towns.

"We had good reception, and good caravan groups traveling with us," says Black. The caravan to northern Panhandle towns was cancelled Monday, July 13. Pioneers of the area are receiving invitations through Mrs. Clyde Warwick and Mrs. R. A. Neblett.

Meanwhile the sale of anniversary paraphernalia is going full swing and "the bonnets are gone," said Black.

Men's celebration accessories may be purchased at the Chamber of Commerce office as long as they last.

The sale of anniversary items will help to defer expenses incurred for the barbecue which will feed some 10,000 pioneers and residents of the Texas Plains.

Signs of the celebration are by the State Board of Education in March. It will involve 60 semester hours of work beyond the bachelor's degree, and includes completion of a program for a professional teacher's certificate. The professional teacher's certificate now includes three years of teaching experience and a masters degree.

"Candidates for the administrator's certificate will be rigidly screened, and must have the professional teacher's certificate before being admitted to the administrator's program," Dr. Roberts said. "The administrator's program will be about a year's study toward the certificate with course work of 24 to 42 semester hours beyond the masters degree."

The new program will be offered through the department of educational administration, whose head is Dr. J. L. Russell, who was dean of the Graduate School until July 1.

Wood Haul This Week For Picnic

"We need some axe slingers Friday," said Roland Black, Chamber of Commerce secretary this week.

Axe slingers are needed for Friday, July 17, when a group of Canyon men will make a "brush country trip" to Clarendon to lead approximately six trucks with firewood for the gigantic barbecue feast which will be staged August 1.

Those interested in helping should contact Black at the chamber office or Joe Gidden, general celebration committee chairman, by late today, Thursday.

Signs of the celebration are the main reasons for his being selected brigade commander by the Commanding General," said Carruth.

"West Texas State is one of about 30 schools represented at camp," he continued. "Thirty-eight WT students are attending."

According to Carruth, the institutional representatives were invited to review the camp and inspect activities, "registering our opinion as to what improvements can be made."

"The Executive Officer there told us that the purpose for having summer camps is to teach men how to be killers," he

With national convention activities going on in San Francisco, I can barely sit still with the urge to hop a plane and join in the doings.

Four years ago I participated in the Democratic National Convention in Los Angeles and it was one of the most educational experiences I have ever had.

I drove to California with my parents and Billy Clayton, delegate from Springlake, Texas.

I recall many things, which now are very minor, but at the time seemed quite significant.

I was about the lowest form of worker at the convention. If you have been watching television, you have no doubt seen the young boys and girls carrying books, obviously running errands. Well, I was one of those obvious errand girls.

I bumped against a lot of important shoulders and stepped on a lot of impressive toes, and it all meant the same: bumped shoulders and stepped on toes.

What I'm trying to say is, at such a convention one is exposed to many well-known people, but is so busy doing some small task he fails to notice what it all means.

Afterward you wonder why you didn't take the time to push them into a corner and talk with them. But this would be impossible, because they too are busy doing something which makes the convention click.

I carried a placard for Lyndon B. Johnson in the demonstration on the floor of the convention following the nominating speech.

This was quite a thrill; people pushing, screaming, shouting, stomping, singing, dancing, and attempting to move forward, sideways and backward, all at the same time.

I didn't know where I was going, where I had been, or who on earth the man was who persisted in placing that sign on the top of my head.

But it was fun. Perhaps the most fun came in the work which is done during the convention.

As many of the news commentators have mentioned, a television viewer sees much more of the convention than the people actually attending.

As a delegate, you hear very little of the speeches being made...too much noise and movement around you.

As a delegate you are exposed to very few of the actual happenings among the top politicians at the convention. You get a lot of the news second hand.

But as a delegate, you work closely with each state caucus and the member delegates.

You learn quickly which states are going to be for and against your candidate.

You learn even more quickly which factions must be talked to and convinced to join your side.

You learn quickly that you need very little sleep.

A national convention is not a party for those attending as delegates, alternates and those seeking nominations.

A national convention is WORK.

It means work for every delegate, it means long hours for every delegate and it means exhaustion at the end of the week.

Delegates do not sleep; they sit up and talk with other delegates about their candidate.

Delegates do not eat much; they grab a cup of coffee and perhaps a sandwich before a meeting or after a session.

Delegates are bombarded with literature, pressure and endless arm-over-the-shoulder conversations.

Yet, they smile, cheer and work diligently to see that their favored man, woman or ideal meets with favor to the other delegates.

Delegates talk hard, fight hard and take losing hard.

The Texas delegation in 1960 lost their fight with tears. The morning after the nomination had gone to John F. Kennedy, the Texas delegation gathered with LBJ heading the group.

Johnson's family cried, Sam Rayburn buried his head in his hands and shook his head, Johnson pleaded for support in "the next ball game."

Little did the Texas delegates (or the ones which I had talked to) know that "the next ball game" was the bid for vice president.

The delegates took it for granted Johnson meant a bid for the presidency in 1964.

With tears they lost the fight for president, and with tears many of them heard Johnson's words when he accepted the vice presidency spot.

Win or lose, a national convention for delegates is more than the gay banners and campaign hats. A convention is a week's work in political maneuverings.

These people are doing their part in participating in the government of the United States of America.

by Troy Martin FROM THE CANYON RIM

Bill Payette of United Press International told teachers at a workshop at West Texas State University this week that the battle for freedom of the press is being fought daily right here in this country.

Payette specifically mentioned executive session of governing boards.

What the UPI man says may be true but we think the biggest threat to the people's right to know is posed by the newsmen himself.

All too often newspaper people lack the desire to dig for the facts. They are willing to let some public relations man write their stories for them. Then what they serve up to their readers is not news at all. It's a mess of propaganda.

Another thing that peeves us about modern reporting is the tendency of columnists and newsmen to pose as soothsayers rather than chroniclers of fact. They spend more time trying to predict the future than they spend in reporting the present.

All the aforementioned tends to confuse the public but it is by no means an excuse for the public not to know what is going on in the world. There are any number of newspapers and periodicals which can be read and weighed against each other. Television brings the great events of the day under our very eye.

With all these facilities through which to learn, we should be able to cut through bias and propaganda and come up with the truth. There is a lot at stake...our ability to govern ourselves.

This has been a great week for those who like politics. There are many more ahead as the presidential campaign unfolds into the fall.

This will be a hotly contested campaign. Of that we have little doubt.

We are trying right now to arrange a campaign tour with each of the candidates. We're not so much interested in what the candidates will have to say. We intend to focus most of our attention on the press corps. If we get to go on these tours, we will pay close attention to the news coverage of the campaign.

WT Sales Underway For Season Football Tickets

Season tickets to 1964 West Texas State University football games are being mailed to 1963 season ticketholders.

Athletic director Frank Kimbrough said that persons buying tickets last year have the right to purchase the same seats through 1968.

People wanting 1964 season tickets, and who did not have them last year, may reserve the best remaining seats by writing Kimbrough, Box 4, W. T. Station, Canyon, or by calling OL 5-2161 extension 304.

Season ticket prices are $24 for chair section seats, $21 for seats without chairs but located outside the 20-yard line and $18 for no-chairs, inside 20-yard line.

"Just season tickets are on sale now," Kimbrough said. "Other tickets go on sale September 1st. People wanting chair section tickets had better purchase them now."

"Less than 300 of the 2,372 seats located between the 28-yard lines are left."

Season tickets go on sale at Maxor Drug in Amarillo and in area towns including Canyon on August 1.

Reserved seat game tickets which will go on sale in September are $3 per ticket for seats inside the 20-yard line and $3.50 anywhere else.

Prices for North and South end zone bleacher seats are $2 for adults and $1 for child-

University IBM Machines New

West Texas State University has the latest and most modern IBM machines available, according to business manager Virgil Henson.

"The next IBM machine which can be used for more detailed computing won't be available for three more years," Henson said.

"The next machine is the 360 IBM and the order date is three years. However, some 360 machines are in use now."

Henson recently returned from an Executive Clinic for IBM study in San Jose, California. College and university executives spent one week of instruction at the west coast International Business Machines Corporation factory.

"I wanted to get a general overview of all IBM machinery and to specifically see what things the computers will do," Henson said.

Approximately $700,000 worth of IBM machinery was installed in the University administration building basement earlier this year. The data processing and computer equipment will later be moved to the Killgore Research Center building when it is completed.

University IBM machines will be used for student registration, administrative purposes and for student instruction. At the California IBM Clinic, Henson was given a view of the scope of work that can be done with the machines.

"We attended the one week school from Monday morning until Friday noon and were in class eight hours per day," Henson said. "We received very intensive training."

"University students will register this fall on the IBM set-up," Henson continued. "This will be the first time to use the machines for registration, so it may go rather slowly at first. However, using the machines should eventually speed up the process of enrollment."

"We will be able to get the class rolls to instructors much faster, probably saving three days to one week of waiting," he said. "Also, student fees will be broken down and listed through the machines as they enroll, saving the time wasted through the old method."

Classes in the use of the computers will be offered through the University business department.

"We will use the machines for a counseling program," Henson said, "and for administrative purposes, as to record information in the Dean's office, records in the dean of men's and dean of women's offices and the business office."

"All grades will be recorded on them, all financial records and inventory, and all reports going to the State agency from the business and university dean's offices."

The WT computers have been secured on a rental basis rather than by purchase. According to an earlier report from Durwood Henderson of the business department, it is better to rent the machines than to buy them because advancement in the field could render them obsolete within months or years.

Building Processes Are Underway At University

A three-point remodeling and construction program has begun at West Texas State University.

Virgil Henson, business manager, said Monday work is under way.

Forts Return From Vacation

The Earl Forts and sons, David, Danny, and Jimmy have returned from a five week vacation to points in Texas.

Six Flags Over Texas was the first stop for the family vacation. They then traveled to Gilmer for a visit with Mrs. Fort's sister, Mrs. J. L. Fenlaw, and family.

While at Gilmer, Jimmy and Danny Fort had tonsillectomy operations given by their uncle, Dr. J. L. Fenlaw.

The family later traveled to Waller to visit with Mrs. J. J. Sanford, mother of Mrs. Fort. Other points visited while in the Gulf Coast area were Houston, Galveston, Bay Town, Altomoma, Huntsville, Navasota, Cleveland and Tomball.

derway or will be in August for better facilities in the post office, administration and education buildings.

"We are adding 1,080 boxes to the post office which we hope to have completed by this fall," Henson said. The post office, located in the Student Union Building, is being enlarged.

"When the student union was built, we left space behind the meeting rooms in the ballroom for further construction. New petitions will be built at the back of these rooms and a hallway constructed on the closed side of the post office."

"New boxes will be added to this side and the post office will be U-shaped. Students will be able to get their mail during all hours that the post office is open." In the past, students with boxes located in the game room area were unable to get their mail when the game room doors were locked.

Other plans for office and classroom construction is being planned and should begin in August. "We hope, by the second semester, to have 34 offices open in the administration and education buildings," Henson said.

The old administration building auditorium balcony will be converted into offices for history, government, economics and sociology.

The gymnasium located on the top floor of the education building will be converted into 19 offices for English, education, languages and mathematics, and 12 additional classrooms will be constructed.

"By 1968, we should have additional, and sufficient space," Henson laughed. "That may sound like a long time to wait, but it is something we have to do when we are trying to pay off our loan and then build."

"Our dormitories will accommodate 1,900 students," he said. An increase of student on-campus enrollment is expected this fall and all dormitories will be opened.

"This summer a new dining room, which will seat about 100 persons, was completed in the west side of the old dining hall (student union cafeteria). It will be available for usage by off-campus groups, particularly."

"We hope to have additional building money by October," Henson continued. "Plans are being worked on for additional floor space in the library and for construction of a vocational building."

Offices for Intercollegiate Football were recently constructed in the administrative portion of old Buffalo Courts, located north of the administration building. Offices had been located in the Field House.

Other construction planned in the near future includes the Killgore Research Center, which earlier this year was scheduled to be completed and put to use by September 1, 1965.

He's In This Fraternity

August 1. Miss Adams is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rex Adams of Houston. She graduated from Westburg High School of Houston in 1962 and attended the University of Houston. She is a former member of the Houston Oilers-ettes and a cheerleader for the Houston Oilers.

Miss Shelby, Perryman Read Rites
The home of Mr. and Mrs. Vertner A. Shelby was the scene of the Friday evening, July 3, wedding of their daughter, Miss Vicki Mozzelle Shelby, to Gary Don Perryman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon T. Perryman.

Rev. R. L. Hillerby officiated at the double ring service with traditional wedding selections being presented by Mrs. Dawson T. Cury, pianist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white street-length dress. A cluster of fabric rosebuds traced in seed pearls held her veil of illusion and she carried a lace-bound Bible crested with a cascade arrangement of chrysanthemums.

A reception in the home followed the ceremony. On return from their wedding trip the couple will reside in Palo Duro Apartments, Amarillo.

You'd never forget where you left a car that looks this good.

You simply can't lose a looker like the Catalina, especially in a crowd. It's too distinctively Pontiac. So's its ride (Wide-Track smooth) and the way it moves (Trophy V-8 quick). Only thing you can forget is your notion about how much all this Pontiac should cost. You will, when you price a Catalina.

Cub Scouts Campfire In Conner Park

Campfire night for Canyon's Cub Scouts will be Saturday, July 18, with the burning torch of freedom lighting the campfire at Conner Park.

Preceding the campfire and program will be a sack-supper for Cub Scouts of Packs 97, 31 and 131 and their parents and other guests.

David Lindley will light the campfire to begin the special program at 8:30 p.m. followed by a formal flag ceremony.

The campfire will be held in conjunction with a national observance of campfires and the National Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pennsylvania. Twenty Canyon scouts are attending the National Jamboree.

Roland Black, Chamber of Commerce secretary, will be keynote speaker for the patriotic program. Music for the evening will be led by John Brandon, son of the L. F. Brandons. "Why I Love America" was the heritage essay topic assigned to Cub Scouts nationwide. Two Cubs from each pack will read their heritage essays during the campfire observance.

Other events planned for the program include Newton Richardson, with a short talk, Dr. J. L. Markham, with the welcome address and advancement awards by cubmasters of each of the three packs.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Dierking were in Hugoton, Kansas recently to visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Johnson.

The Dierkings attended a production of "Amen" which featured her brother, Darrell Johnson, during their visit to Kansas.

Mrs. Keith Jones Enjoys Hobbies, Coffee Klatches

Mrs. Keith Jones shares her recipe for Chicken Italiano with our readers this week. The former Miss Peggy Martin was reared at Abilene, Texas. After completing high school Miss Martin spent two years at Texas Woman's University as a business major later transferring to Oklahoma State University at Stillwater, where she received her degree.

A graduate of Capitol Hill High School in Oklahoma City, Keith Jones was also a student at Oklahoma State University. Miss Martin and Jones were married June 1948 and spent two years at OSU while he completed his degree.

Moving to Texas in 1951, the Jones family later moved to Canyon in 1959 and have resided at 2417 8th Avenue for a period of two years.

"Keith is a mortgage and loan representative and land appraiser for an insurance company," Mrs. Jones said. "When he comes home I always have little jobs waiting like gardening and refinishing furniture—but for some reason he prefers the golf course."

"I like to garden and work in the flower beds when the 'mood strikes' which isn't very often," Mrs. Jones says.

"My favorite pastimes are knitting, sewing, reading mysteries and coffee klatches with neighbors and friends."

"You might call me an old fashioned cook, I like to use the pre-packaged and frozen foods available today—and the time saved I spend with my daughter," she said.

The Jones' daughter, Melody, will be a freshman at Canyon Junior High School this fall. A member of the Future Homemakers of America, Melody has served as chapter historian and plans to begin degree work this fall.

Melody has been an active member of the Methodist Youth Fellowship and is secretary now. Her parents were senior MYF sponsors until the summer session. As members of the First Methodist Church, Mr. Jones is chairman of the board of stewards and Mrs. Jones is now serving as the divisional superintendent of the children's department.

Mrs. Jones and her daughter are both active in Girl Scout work. Melody has been a member of Brownie and Girl Scout programs for about 6 years and Mrs. Jones is sponsor for a troop of 11-12 year-olds.

"I've enjoyed working with the scouts," Mrs. Jones said. "It may be because I was a Girl Scout some years ago myself."

"Hobo is our ten-year-old and still quite active for an old man," Mrs. Jones commented of the family's pet Siamese cat who thinks that "he's people."

Mrs. Jones' grandmother, Mrs. George Brock, is a newcomer to Canyon and her sister, Mrs. Charles Robertson, Jr., lives in Amarillo.

"Keith is the middle man in a house of girls...he has 5 sisters," says Mrs. Jones.

Her favorite recipe follows: CHICKEN ITALIANO 2-3 lb. chicken, cut up 1/3 cup flour 2 tsp. salt 1 tsp. pepper 1/2 cup butter

Dip chicken pieces in flour

25 Canyon Baptists At Meet

A church related vocations conference will be held at Wayland Baptist College in Plainview July 17-18 with state departments of the Texas Baptist Association sponsoring conference leaders.

Students of the area will have the opportunity to learn of prospective job opportunities in the church in several areas including pastoral, educational, music, foreign-home missions, social work, medical, teaching, age group workers, and business vocations.

Approximately 25 are planning to attend the vocations conference from the First Baptist Church of Canyon according to Bud Lovell, minister of education, who will serve as a sponsor.

Youth Group Organized

A 'youth division' of the Rabbit Breeders Association is in the process of revival with advantages of equal shows and other benefits derived from association.

Youngsters, who breed rabbits, between the ages of 9 and 19 are eligible for membership. The club's first official meeting was held Tuesday evening of this week. July 28th will be the next meeting date for the junior division according to Mrs. W. E. 'Bill' Hill.

Additional information on the youth Rabbit Breeders Association may be obtained through the association or from W. E. 'Bill' Hill in Canyon.

Teachers Gather To Learn Of Newspapers

Outstanding news men and educators were guest speakers during a three day conference this week at West Texas State University.

The men spoke to teachers from Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma on the importance of the newspaper in school work. Workshop for teachers provided an explanation of better methods of instructing youngsters in understanding the newspaper which they read daily.

Registration for the conference was Sunday afternoon followed by a special dinner program in the East Cafeteria of the WT campus.

Dr. James P. Cornette, president of the university, gave the welcome address followed by a speech by Harry Provence, editor of the Waco News-Tribune.

Sessions began Monday morning with panel discussions and question and answer periods.

Robert Johnson, Texas Bureau chief of Associate Press in Dallas, spoke at the luncheon meeting of the group. In the afternoon, workshop sessions were conducted.

"We never had ancestors of whom so much was required. Let us be thankful," was the closing statement by Jenkin Lloyd Jones of the Tulsa Tribune Monday evening.

Jones spoke to the group Monday about the problems which face teachers and journalists in educating the public. "We as teachers and journalists can't raise our hands and give up. Removal from reality is fatal. The world is crying for men and women with flexible mentality," he explained.

"People with minds chained by ideology cannot ask the questions: What really works? What is the best path now?"

"This type of mind can find easy answers but no solutions," he continued.

Jones pointed out teachers and journalists can never say "I'll never learn to understand that."

"We must understand it. Removal from reality is fatal," he challenged.

Jones pointed out the partatomic energy would play in the future of the world.

He said atomic power resources now stockpiled throughout the world would be enough to run all the machines on earth for three years.

Dr. Lee Williamson, assistant superintendent in the Amarillo Public Schools, gave the main discussions Tuesday morning.

William C. Payette southwest division manager for United Press International of Dallas, spoke at the noon luncheon and Dr. A. B. Martin, president of Amarillo College, gave the main address at the evening meal.

Wednesday morning the workshop members participated in a question and answer period.

The conference ended at noon Wednesday.

ment." We need to "exploit to the fullest the brain power we produce, which will guide and determine the destiny of this state," Connally said. Three other higher education studies have been undertaken since 1923, but have failed of implementation for lack of power in a coordinating board. Members declared the ambitious and costly program not just an expenditure of money, but an investment, since increased earning power of well-educated citizens will be reflected in state revenues.

The group warned of retrogression in standing with other states and loss of population as the alternative to action.

Presently, of 100 third-grade Texans only 16 graduate from college, when 29 could graduate. Texas ranks next to the top in states with populations of less than five years education. Average lifetime earnings for one with eight years education is $143,000, with a high school education, $247,000, and with four years college $417,000.

Committeeman Harold Dunn of Amarillo, board chairman for Shamrock Oil and Gas Corp., said improvement of the educational society beyond the high school could "prevent the individual from becoming lost in the technological revolution."

By September next year Texas will have 22 senior colleges and 30 junior colleges. Senior colleges range in size from 22,000 to 1,200 students and junior colleges from 9,000 to 150. Of the 230,000 college students in Texas, three out of four are educated at state institutions.

Within ten years the enrollment will double. Texas' regression was pointed out by the 1940 figures showing the state 19th in the union with median years of school completed. In 1960, Texas ranked 30th. With no dearth of physical plants for higher education, the committee said, "the problem is not quantity, but quality." Excellence in education did not prevail in Texas, said Tom Sealy of Midland, because of no coordinated control of institutions and lack of necessary funds.

Institutions were created haphazardly, he said, sometimes according to geography, sometimes according to politics. Naming is also complicated. Sealy noted, with some institutions called universities and yet still operating according to the college pattern.

Today the Texas Education Agency supervises junior colleges. The Texas commission on higher education, created in 1955, supervises senior colleges and universities. The higher education commission has been advisory in nature with no jurisdiction on junior colleges, no means to enforce its policies and no budget control.

The result has been no statutory control over higher education programming, thus much overlapping and duplication of effort and money.

The Governor's Committee is aiming at a realistic role and scope policy for all education beyond the high school.

"We will never have a real system," they say, "if every institution attempts to be all things to all people. Each institution must perform an appropriate and unique duty. The coordinating board will decide what that will be." The committee charged that four-year colleges want to become multipurpose universities in attempting to offer doctorate degrees, which add unduly to the cost. As to four year colleges, recommendations are that graduate programs at the doctorate level be limited. Some states have only one. Texas needs several, the committee says, but because of economy in concentration they should be few. The coordinating board as recommended will be composed of 18 members appointed by the governor and affirmed by the senate.

A professional staff is also suggested to aid the board, which will serve six-year staggered terms.

No junior college should be elevated to a senior college and the coordinating board should be empowered "to determine when an institution is getting outside its scope. The report said. The board will be the highest authority in the state on higher education, with power to phase out obsolete degrees and courses, said Texas University Chancellor Harry Ransom.

The committee recommends high selective standards for students and at least masters degrees for teachers. Operating control is reserved for the regents or present governing boards of universities.

But all requests to go before the legislature will go through the coordinating board. Committee Chairman Dr. D. M. Wiggins of Lubbock said the "final test of eminence is dependent upon the teaching staff." Teaching salaries, libraries and research constitute the bulk of the additional investment recommended.

Whether there will be a roll back in doctorates now offered in Texas universities will be a matter for the coordinating board, the committee said. At his press conference, Connally said he was philosophically opposed to dedicated funds because they hampered the general revenue book, and sometimes their purpose became obsolete. But, Connally continued, "Education must not become obsolete and I might wind up recommending a dedicated fund such as that of the foundation school program."

Connally said he knew the legislature would be burdened with congressional and legislative redistricting, but he hoped judicial redistricting would be considered also. "It can all be accomplished in a regular session," he declared. "The legislators are ready, but it isn't going to be an easy session."

"This is hard to believe. I have checked and rechecked and still I come up with this 6.44 inches," Measamer said.

A break down of moisture each month since September shows the highest month as February with 1.59 inches. June followed with 1.57 inches and November was third with 1.25. April was the low month with no moisture recorded.

In the first two weeks of July, .11 of an inch has been recorded.
